ScoolSmart's App makes School Work Smarter

Smart-Space company ScoolSmart will soon be launching the world's first fully customised multilingual app and SIM card based student card which aim at integrating and facilitating faster and more efficient communication between schools, parents, teachers and students.

The SIM card based student card is integrated with features such as school and bus attendance, One Touch Authorisation, a Back-to-School e-commerce platform as well as a unique payment solution.

"Our product will launch globally starting in Hong Kong and promises to revolutionise the school ecosystem which is currently fragmented and paper-based at many institutions," explained Haroon Hasan, CEO of ScoolSmart.

The concept, backed by the founder's own capital as well as funding from venture capitalists including Aquitaine Investment Advisors is now undergoing R&D to enhance system capabilities in augmented reality, artificial intelligence and blockchain technology.
